In planning the Courses of Study of the Greencastle High School, we have tried to meet the educational needs of the boys and girls in this community. For each pupil to obtain the best results it is very important that the course selected offers the training best adapted to the student's ability and interest. Our program in educational and vocational guidance helps students to do that.

The Greencastle High School is accredited by the Pennsylvania State Department of Public Instruction as a six year Junior-Senior High School. Students have the choice of subjects in six different courses. They are College Preparatory, Commercial, General, Home Economics, Vocational Agriculture, and Directed Correspondence Study. The correspondence course was added this year to increase vocational training for boys who are preparing to enter defense industry, and is open to members of the junior and senior classes. State College is the correspondence center, and seventeen students are taking work in Beginning Aviation, Blue Print Reading, Mechanical Drawing and Beginning Radio. No student takes more than one subject and earns regular high school credit for the work.

During the 1941-42 school term thirty Greencastle High School graduates are attending the following colleges and universities: University of Pennsylvania, Temple University, University of Pittsburgh, University of Michigan, University of Maryland, University of Virginia, Dartmouth College, Franklin and Marshall College, Gettysburg College, Dickinson College, Pennsylvania State College, Wilson College, Indiana State Teachers College, Shippensburg State Teachers College, Juniata College, Catawba College, The Citadel College, Towson State Teachers College and Stroudsburg State Teachers College. In addition, during the past few years our students have been graduated from Susquehanna University, Lafayette College, Drexel Institute of Technology, and Ursinus College. Other students are taking courses in training schools for nurses, business schools and technical schools that give special training in defense work.

Our school is making every effort to help students find their interest and ability so that they may prepare for the job in which they can give their best service in the defense program. They are shown the need of accepting individual responsibility for self discipline in order to be able to take their place as a worthy citizen in our democratic way of life.

Classmates stand together
Don't give up the fight.
We'll all be there beside you
We'll fight and fight and fight with all our might.
We've a long, long way to travel
But we'll march right through.

We'll go on and ever onward, the class

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

Four short years ago on the bright autumn day of September 5, there occurred in our lives a great event we shall always remember. Seventy-two "greenie" freshmen entered the halls of G. H. S. as lower classmen. We were bashful and backward at first; but as time marched on, we became more independent, thus taking our place in the activities of the school.

In our sophomore year we became more active in the social routine which included a "weenie" roast and skating party at Cold Springs, exchanging of gifts before Christmas vacation, and the opening of a Valentine box.

The same year we contributed three members of our class to the orchestra. The Girls' Chorus sang two numbers at the County Christian Endeavor meeting held in the Presbyterian Church. At the Hi-Y covered dish supper, Ella Glaser sang two vocal solos and Tom Swope played two cornet solos.

As class president, Tom Swope succeeded Charles Zimmerman. Chloe Kauffman and Harold Fox were chosen to represent us in the Student Council, while Evelyn Zullinger and Charles Zimmerman represented us on the Athletic Board.

For our offering at Thanksgiving time, Section A presented in assembly the playlet, "She Made a Pumpkin Pie," and numerous book charades directed by Mrs. Conrad. Room 6 presented a helpful and most interesting demonstration on table etiquette, and another on "Boy Meets Girl." These were quite beneficial; for within a few weeks some of our more timid members turned into perfect gentlemen. In the world of sports many members participated in basketball, hockey, soccer, and baseball, while some of our classmates became active on the varsity teams.

After entering school on September 3, 1940, we elected Charles Zimmerman as class president to lead us through the most eventful year of our high school careers.

We started in October by taking our semi-annual trip to Cold Springs Park where as a class we all enjoyed a skating party. On November 7, we voted for our class rings but were slightly disappointed when it was revealed that Santa Claus wouldn't get them here for Christmas. However, the holidays proved rather nice since we had a tree decorated, exchanged gifts, and had Christmas carols played by our musically talented classmates. On December 31 our rings arrived. With much sighing and delight we showed them to our fellow schoolmates.

On February 13, the class held a meeting to select our colors, song, motto, flower, and play. Columbia blue and white were the colors chosen; our song was written by Betty Mae Bryan to the tune of "Shipmates Stand Together." Our motto became "Don't Give Up the Ship," and the flower, red roses. Our decisions were very patriotic. Within a few weeks we voted on our pennants and caps, with dink hat coming out on top.

After reading plays for several weeks, the play committee appointed by the president decided on "June Mad" to be presented for the public on April 24 and 25. The cast included Betty Mae Bryan, Tom Swope, Bill Trumpower, Helen Holbert, Leona McFadden, Charles Zimmerman, Elliott Gossard, Doris Oliver, Richard Zarger, Harold Fox, Janet Mae Stoner, William A. Diehl, and Evelyn Zullinger.

On September 15, much to our satisfaction we returned to G. H. S. to take our place as the high and mighty seniors. Soon officers were elected. Then in October we had play try-outs for the senior class play which was entitled "Pickles Becomes a Lady," with Jane Dulebohn in the lead. The rest of the cast included Robert Vaughn, Ruth Grove, Doris Oliver, Ellis Kendall, James Faubel, Ella Glaser, Lorraine Hollinger, Ada Brechbiel, Esther Brumbaugh, Evelyn Zullinger, Helen Krnier, Tom Swope, and Richard Zarger. Directed by Mrs. Toms, the play was a great success, and everyone was happy over its outcome on the nights of December 4 and 5. At our Christmas party, we exchanged gifts, and had laughs for all. In February Mr. Russell was here to talk about our class pictures which are taken now and ready for the Conocheaguinit.

Thus we come to the present with senior activities prior to graduation and a different road for each one of us. Whatever the close of school may bring, each of us seniors will long cherish the happy memories.

MARCHING ALONG TOGETHER

Onward! We march together, we're the class of forty-three

Loyal and true forever, marching on to victory

Marching along through high school, striving to do our best.

Our will is strong, and our courage high, and when we fail—again we'll try

We'll keep on going, our goal in view; it's always “do or die”

Marching along together, faithful are we to forty-three.

JUNIOR CLASS

On September 15, the Class of 1943 entered Greencastle High School as upper classmen, ready to accept additional responsibilities, and anxiously looking forward to a most eventful year. We all realized that, as juniors, we had many responsibilities placed upon us; and feeling this, we entered wholeheartedly into our work.

In the latter part of September, we elected for the ensuing year our class officers, and Lorraine Rotz and James Harris to represent us as members of Student Council.

Each month held something new for us. Early in October we voted for our class rings. Then in December, we began thinking about our class colors, motto, and flower.

While we were tense with enjoyment of the senior play and looking forward with the prospect of presenting our own in a few months, we were shocked on the same memorable weekend with the tragedy at Pearl Harbor, the declaration of war, and the fatal accident to Richard Black, a member of our class. His funeral was held on Saturday, December 13, with the members of our class as flower carriers.

On December 22, our class rings arrived. This made us all feel very proud and very much like upper classmen. Falling in with the Christmas spirit, we had a party and a beautiful tree. After singing carols and exchanging gifts, refreshments were served and best wishes for a Merry Christmas were given to everyone.

When we returned to school, we realized that we had a busy year before us. Mid-year examinations were very real. Then in the latter part of January, we began to think about our caps and pennants. A committee was appointed to select samples and after a vote by the class, a pennant, with the design of our rings on it, and the crew hat were chosen. How proud we were of our maroon and gray when we could show them to the town!

Then we began to think about the presentation of a play. The president appointed a committee whose members read plays for several weeks. "Ever Since Eve" was decided upon, and was presented April 16 and 17.

Following is the cast of five girls and six boys who took part:

With much cooperation and enthusiasm from each member, the play was successfully presented under the direction of Miss Williams and Miss Dffenfer.

We are now eagerly looking forward to next year when we will be seniors.

As we, the class of 1944, entered the Greencastle High School once again on the fifteenth day of September we were no longer meek, shy freshmen but sophomores ready to begin the second round of our high school career. In addition to electing our class officers, we also chose our referees, Mary Lu Humbert and Richard Knauff, or as they are known professionally, members of the Student Council.

Several boys and girls were active in the fall sports, hockey and soccer. Basketball season closed for the girls by their winning one game and losing two to their upper-classmates, but they are looking forward to a better season next year. Also prominent names as "Fieldy Mouse," "Peepy," "Fuzzy," and "Mole," were heard in connection with varsity basketball. Still others were outstanding on the Junior High Varsity.

On December 23, our class held a Christmas party in the gymnasium. We had several musical selections and group singing followed by the exchanging of Christmas presents and the serving of refreshments.

After members had been received into the Senior Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y, for several days the girls were seen running through the halls wearing men's garters and stockings with a large red Y painted on each forehead, this being a part of their initiation. The cast of the Tri-Hi-Y Christmas play, "Once Upon A Christmas," was made up entirely of sophomore girls.

This year we disregarded our old traditional idea of exchanging valentines. On March 2, the girls under the direction of Mrs. Toms put on two dances for the County Educational Association. One dance was called the "Sailors' Horn Pipe," and the other, "Coming Through the Rye." Our class is also represented on Mr. Kaley's gymnastic team which provided part of the program the same evening.

This year we have two Glee Clubs under Miss Martin's direction, but as yet we have not put on any program.

Still obtaining the champion's title for the largest class to enter Greencastle High School, we have a total enrollment of one hundred fourteen members. Since no classroom is large enough to accommodate our entire class, we have been separated into four home rooms, Room 3 under the supervision of Miss Diffenderfer, Room 9 under Mrs. Conrad, Room 6 under Mrs. Shaulis, and Room 10 under Miss Martin.

We are looking forward to the time when we shall be juniors and seniors, and we hope to graduate the largest class that ever entered Greencastle High School.

On September 15, 1941 eighty-four eager freshmen scrambled up the steps of G. H. S. where we hope to acquire many honors and friendships. Each heart was full of determination to make ours the best freshman class that ever entered G. H. S. Such a time as we had the first few days! We certainly felt foolish when we had to ask the teachers the way to confusing classrooms.

After the first six weeks' period, we had our class election which was conducted as a general election. Printed ballots and voting booths made it seem realistic. Every two weeks we also elect a home-room chairman, who appoints people to read the Bible, pass the waste paper can, and dismiss the pupils. Also a person is tender of the window blinds.

Most freshmen were successful in obtaining subscriptions for the Curtis Magazines. Lucky persons received attractive prizes.

The freshman class is divided into three sections. In the English classes we read different stories. Section A English gave a play entitled "Rich Family Robinson" at our Christmas party in Main Room. Civics A made booklets about our Democracy. Civics B and C learned how to vote. The home economics girls are making attractive booklets about "Ideal Homes." In Science we did many interesting experiments; we studied about water, fire, light, and many things we use in our everyday lives.

During the Christmas holidays Main Room was elaborately decorated with pine and paper rope which was contributed by some of the pupils. A large Christmas tree, brought by some of the boys, brightened the front of the room. Under the supervision of Miss Williams, the room was decorated by some of the pupils.

We have been rather outstanding in sports. About one-third of our class went out for some sport. The girls went out for hockey, basketball, and gym; the boys went out for soccer, basketball, and gym. Almost all the freshmen belong to some club. Members of the freshman class belong to the orchestra and one belongs to the glee club.

On January 20 the twelve home economics girls went to the State Farm Show at Harrisburg. In February, we had a valentine box which was nicely decorated.

We of the freshman class wish to extend our sincere appreciation to the teachers who have endeavored to aid us in our high school work.

HI-Y ORGANIZATIONS

The four Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y organizations are branches of the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. They are established for the purpose of creating, maintaining, and establishing throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character: clean speech, clean sports, and clean scholarship.

In our school, we have both the senior and junior organizations. The senior organization is composed of members of the sophomore, junior, and senior classes; and the junior is composed of members of the seventh, eighth, and ninth grades. Their activities are both religious and social in nature. Among the religious activities is a Bible study conducted by the state and sponsored by members of the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y.

In October each of the clubs sent delegates to the annual county meeting of all the Hi-Y organizations held, this year, at Mercersburg. There reports were heard of activities during the past year. Later the senior groups attended a conference in Waynesboro.

The senior Tri-Hi-Y, with Mrs. Conrad as adviser, had its first meeting as an initiation for its new members. The membership of the club was found to be about ninety. The increase in membership was due to the great increase in the size of the sophomore class.

For the Christmas meeting the time was spent in singing familiar Christmas Carols, such as "Silent Night," "The First Noel," and others.

Every year the joint Hi-Y groups give a Christmas play. This year it was called "Once Upon A Christmas" and was put on by a group of sophomore girls. The plot of the play centered about a family and the benefits Christmas brought them.

On Christmas Eve the senior Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y had a joint carol singing party. Carols were sung on all the streets of our town; then the clubs were entertained at the home of one of the members, Janet Mae Stoner.

This year the clubs have attempted a new project. Since there are many belonging to both clubs who would like to learn to dance and also many who are willing to teach them, the noon hour has been given over to dancing and pupil instruction.

The Hi-Y, with Mr. Conrad as adviser, is composed of thirty-five members. The first meeting was spent in initiating new members. At other meetings during the year discussions on topics such as "Conflict Between Father and Son," and "Budgeting" were had. The Reverend George Kress, local minister, spoke on the subject, "Money, the Root of All Evil."

The Junior Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y, with advisers Miss Diffenderfer and Mr. Kaley, follow almost the same programs as those of the senior organizations.

A covered dish supper was held early in March which was enjoyed by the senior groups. After the supper, entertainment was provided by Ella Glaser, Doris Greenawalt, June Beckner, and Janet Mae Stoner; and a quartet composed of Robert Vaughn, Elliott Gossard, Ellis Kendall, and Max Hoffman.

New books were presented by the Tri-Hi-Y to the school library. The money for these was raised by dues and offering at the Christmas Program.

These are a few of the ways that the Hi-Y groups have tried to help their members to become better citizens, both in school and community.

SENIOR GLEE CLUB

For years, Greencastle High School has had a Senior Glee Club, composed of juniors and seniors, and a Junior Glee Club composed of sophomores only. This year, the sophomore class, being so very large, boasts two Junior Glee Clubs; and for this reason has not rendered special music during the school year. But, making up for this, the Senior Glee Club sang at a Parent-Teacher Meeting on November 10 and on the next day, November 11, at the school's annual Armistice Day program.

At the Christmas program on the night of December 22, an impressive candle-light service was held. Beginning with a candle-light procession by junior and senior high school girls, dressed in white and carrying tall white candles, the girls entered the auditorium from all doors and marched, to Christmas music, to seats in the front. The program continued with a Christmas play by members of the sophomore class, several selections by the Senior Glee Club, and concluded with a candle-light recessional. Christmas Carols also were sung in many of the rooms and over the streets of town.

Our orchestra, composed of girls and boys from the Junior and Senior High School, played selections this year at a defense meeting and for the junior and the senior plays.

The Future Homemakers of America began another adventurous year when they returned to school in September. This year we have a larger club than ever with twenty-nine members.

Last year's trip to Philadelphia proved to be quite educational and alluring. We visited many interesting places such as large stores, museums, scientific laboratories, and the Du Pont Gardens, also many other places of historical significance. A number of Home Economics girls visited the State Farm Show at Harrisburg with their chaperon, Miss Oellig. We have raised money, so far this year, through food sales, school lunch, projects, and selling commercial candy. We are planning a trip again, in the spring, as a climax to this school year. Now we are looking forward to receiving our club pins which have been ordered.

We hope, for the welfare of each F. H. A. member, that this club may go on living forever in this school. As a club, we want to thank those who help to make this possible for us, especially Miss Oellig for her splendid leadership and guidance through this year.

Officers of the Future Farmers of America who were elected in '41 were Charles Zimmerman, President; William Trumpower, Secretary; Myron Hawbaker, Treasurer; and John Springer, Reporter. Mr. Mumma is our adviser.

During the summer we went on the Farm Project Tour which was held partly in the Greencastle area. Then we attended a day at State College during Future Farmer Week.

After school began, we attended the Little Farm Product Show at Chambersburg. We aided the Citizens National Bank with their Farm Product Show which was held in the Greencastle High School. Then we attended the State Farm Show at Harrisburg, and the F. F. A. Jamboree in Greencastle High School.

During the second semester, we attended the F. F. A. Banquet at McConnellsburg and meetings for one day at State College during Future Farmer Week.

One of the most important features in an education is training in the use of leisure time. This is becoming more and more important as economic and social progress add to the amount of leisure we have at our disposal. Our school clubs have been organized exactly for this purpose. Included in this group are the Y clubs whose functions have been discussed earlier.

The Latin Club has been given a Latin name, "Res Publica Romana." Instead of a president, it has two consuls; instead of a treasurer, a quaestor; and instead of a secretary, a scribe. Its main objectives are to learn more of the Latin language and the customs of those who used the Latin language. The members read, do Latin puzzles, and plan to give a play.

The Electrical Club consists of a group of boys who are interested in all sorts of electrical gadgets, about which many of us understand very little.

A group organized in the last few years is the Rod and Gun Club. Its main interests are just what its title implies: fishing and hunting.

The Pan-American Club, whose picture appears on page twenty-six, has Mr. Conrad as adviser. It was organized this year for reading and discussion to familiarize the members with our American Neighbors. Also through it, several Pan-American films have been secured.

The Fancywork Club is composed of a group of girls whose main object is to interest girls in handicraft.

ROD AND GUN CLUB

First Row—J. Elliott, Lanehart, Laubs, Walters.

CONOCHEAGUIT STAFF

Standing—Swope, Gossard, Brechbiel, Burkholder, Bemisderfer, Minnich, Stoner, Martin, Rotz, Schaff, Hinkle, Dulebohn, Stine, Kauffman.
Seated—D. Oliver, Humbert, J. Oliver, Henson, McDonald, A. Brumbaugh, Kauffman, E. Brumbaugh, Holbert, Glaser, Elliott, Trayer.
Advisers—Miss Phillippy, Miss Williams.

The Music Club, whose picture appears on page twenty-two, was reorganized this year with Miss Martin as adviser. It consists of those who are interested in music and who wish to know more about it.

The Archery Club, with Mr. Davison as adviser, is interested in the attractive out-door sport of archery. Arrows and other equipment have been secured, with which the members often practice.

The Commercial Club is made up of those interested in anything of the commercial nature. In club periods, the members type, give programs and are planning to present a play in an assembly program.

The Wood Working Club, directed by Mr. Mumma, is made up of a group of boys interested in working with wood.

And last of all but not least is the Annual Staff. The responsibility of this club is to see that a yearbook is published. Its members have charge of the pictures, articles, and advertisements contained in the book. Chloe Kauffman, the president, and Bettye Henson have been the editors of this edition. Alice Brumbaugh has been vice-president, and Katherine McDonald secretary and subscription chairman. Janet Stoner acted as advertising manager and Ada Brechbiel as chief typist. Many other members of the staff and student body have done faithful work for everyone to have this memory of an eventful year in G. H. S.

1. Pan-American Club. 2. Now for a walk. 3. See how we study! 4. Will we have enough? 5. Our Einstein. 6. Patrol Squad. 7. Power behind the show. 8. Which ring wins? 9. Do you recognize us? 10. Librarians. 11. Sales managers for Curtis. 12. Grandma arrives! 13. Noon shopping finished. 14. Marble Champion. 15. Advertising manager explains. 16. Student Council.

The annual Curtis Magazine Drive was opened officially by Mr. Fred Muller who arrived on Friday, October 3, and made plans with the leaders to conduct the drive until October 20.

Personal incentives to the good sales people included such offers as boxes of Hershey's candy given to the two rooms which had the highest percentages. The seventh grade received both boxes. Many other prizes were received by the pupils who sold subscriptions totaling more than two points. Last, but not least, was a small Emerson radio given the person whose name was drawn from a box containing the names of all persons who had sold subscriptions. Lloyd Rowe was the lucky winner.

The school was divided into two teams: the Blue with Courtlandt Kauffman as captain, and the Red with Richard Zarger as captain. Bettye Henson acted as secretary of the drive, and Evelyn Zullinger as publicity manager.

The Red team won over the Blue for the number of subscriptions sold. The total number of subscriptions sold by both teams was 427, of which 239 were Curtis publications, and 188 general list publications.

The amount of money collected from the drive was $693.50. The school's net commission was $222.34. This money is used for helpful purchases from which the high school benefits, such as athletic equipment, rental of films, and improvement on the radio.

Recognition should be given to the seventh grade pupils who sold subscriptions totaling $186.50, and to Shirley Ann Schurr who sold a total of forty-two dollars worth of subscriptions.

This year was the best by far on record of the magazine drives in our high school. We hope that in the following years this will be an incentive to the others who take part in this activity.

Soon after the beginning of school, many of the girls were ready to participate in sports. We started out with hockey under Coaches Conrad and Diffenderfer. This year we had many new girls from the freshman class. Our first game was played with Scotland on their home field where we were very badly defeated. Our last game was played with the same team on our field where again we were defeated but not as badly.

After our Thanksgiving vacation we were ready for basketball season. The junior and senior girls were coached by Mrs. Toms, while the freshmen and sophomores were coached by Miss Williams. Mrs. Toms also coached the varsity girls' team. Our first varsity game was with the alumnae with whom we tied the score. A game with Quincy was played also. Having completed these games, we then started intramural basketball. These games were held after school, and each class was well represented both in teams and in cheers. The undefeated seniors won the championship.

The boys' athletic teams reached new heights of success this year. Although the soccer team did not begin practice until late and played fewer games, it gave a good account of itself by winning four games, losing two, and tying one. The high point of achievement was a three to two victory over Mercersburg High on our field on November 4.

Our varsity basketball team under the captainship of Bob Vaughn also set a most enviable record in winning twelve and losing only five games. We won some thrillers, and we lost some thrillers. In winning from Scotland and losing to Lemaster, the Greencastle fans showed more enthusiasm than ever before in single games. This year's team did not win any cup, but it did show fine sportsmanship along with an unquestioned desire to win.

SOCCER

Standing—Kuhn, Shank, D. Oberholzer, Kell, Watson, Washinger, Diehl, Fries, Kesselring, Williams, B. Oberholzer, College, Rinehart, Mr. Kaley.

JR. VARSITY BASKETBALL

Standing—Fries, S. Zimmerman, Rowland, Bear, Lanehart, Mr. Conrad.

Front—Robinson.

The Junior High Basketball team, coached by Mr. Kaley, also enjoyed a successful season. They played four games, two with St. Mary's Catholic High Junior Varsity and two with the Hagerstown South Potomac Junior High, losing only the away game with South Potomac. This team has produced several players which should see a lot of service with the varsity.

Baseball, the season's last sport, is now getting under way, and it is hoped that it also will play winning ball.

An athletic demonstration was given on Monday evening, March 3, 1942, when boys and girls from the classes directed by Mrs. Toms and Mr. Kaley entertained teachers attending the Franklin County Educational Association.

Sophomore girls wearing white suits presented a sailors' dance; another group of sophomore girls enacted Comin' Thro' the Rye; a small group of junior girls did the Irish Reel; and three senior girls had a rope drill.

The boys' and girls' gymnastic teams combined their talents on the mats and in pyramid building. The boys also gave an exhibition of precision skills and intricate figures on parallel bars, mats, and spring-board.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council was organized on September 30, with Mr. Grove as supervisor and Doris Oliver as secretary.

The Council decided at the second meeting the plan for the magazine drive, electing Courtlandt Kauffman and Richard Zarger as the two captains and Bettye Henson as general secretary. This drive proved to be the most successful and one of which we are very proud. The council also sponsored the annual Hallowe'en Party which was held in the high school gymnasium.

CLASS OF '42 ON PARADE

As the class of '42, we stand
Calm, powerful, and strong as the sturdy oak
Looking far out to see our future years
Envelope us like a magic cloak
But let's not say farewell so soon;
There's more about us you want to know.
So I'll tell you a few secret things,
And you watch the victims' countenances glow.

Tom Swope as our president stands,
But Zimmerman was the runner-up
And several times headed this band.
Chloe you'll remember as the diplomat
Who knows world affairs from start to end.
Ellis as head of the school patrol,
A guiding hand to all has lent.
Betty Mae, the typewriter pounds,
With Faubel trying to keep up her pace.
Leona is known for her high I. Q.
And Zullinger for her lovely face.
Hinkle, Beaver and Ethel, we're told,
Have their hearts securely wrapped.
To Virginia, discouragement comes very slow;
All facts first, she must know.
Gayman, Tosten, and Marie are going to be
The best of secretaries; you wait and see.
The quiet people of our class are:
Stine, Auman, Truax, and Snyder.
Ruth's assistance has carried her far,
In the field of Home Ec. she is a star.
Trayer's interest lies wholly in Penn State;
We're told Trumpower was an able suitor;
The one a sport, the other, personality's mate:
Esther and Doris an interesting couple make.
They say Ella's destined to be a singer,
And Clara a stenographer rare,
While Bowman will be a heart-flinger
With her eyes which she'll use to snare.
William A. and William E. will give
To everyone a perfect square Diehl.
Fox you'll always find on the job.
Fries might be somewhere around.

But you just look for R. D. or Paul
For they're here and there without a sound.
Now Vaughn is an athlete through and through;
Max, you know, belongs to that class, too.
Reeder helps give the orchestra its tunes,
But wishes to go to Punxsutawney soon.
Holbert goes regular, seven nights a week,
But Dulebohn says she needs some sleep.
Oh, there's the bell, and what should appear
But Shatzer and Stoner to shout, "I'm here."
Ask a question and watch Gossard go red,
While Fogelsanger wonders what was said.
Zarger, we're told, has trouble with hearing.
Betty Lee's new, but her path is clearing.
"Someone doesn't know how," Burkholder agrees.
The school, Mary Elliott's assistance needs,
While Ada keeps sowing her helpful seeds.
Kriner and Lorraine get their nicknames mixed:
They both to the name of "Shorty" stick.
Betty Miller is natty and very sweet;
She gains much attention, this I repeat.
Shinham by ill-fortune missed a year,
But now he's coming through fast and clear.
And I, the writer about this class,
Never did much that will ever last.
So let's take leave and say, "So Long,"
Hoping this class never does wrong;
But everyday, hour by hour,
Each keeps himself climbing toward the top of his tower,
And performing his duties as good citizens do.
Good-bye, dear classmates of forty-two!

WIT AND HUMOR

POSITIVE DAUGHTER

Father: "Betty Mae, the neighbors report that they saw you and Jimmy kissing in the parlor last night. Did they or did they not?"

Betty Mae: "They did not."

Father: "Are you sure, daughter?"

Betty Mae: "Certainly! The shades were down and the lights were out."

Miss Phillippy: (History Class) "What important event happened in 1815?"

R. D.: "The beginning of the War of 1812."

Mr. Conrad: "Your recitation reminds me of Quebec."

Dick K.: "Why?"

Mr. Conrad: "Because it's founded on a tall bluff."

Mr. Whitmore: "What makes the leaves turn red in the fall?"

Wheeler: "They are blushing to think how green they have been all summer."

WASTEFUL

The Scotchman berated his son for buying an all day sucker at 6 o'clock in the evening.

CHILD EYES

A little boy was describing to his father the painting, Spirit of '76. He said: "One soldier was blowing a whistle, one hitting a drum, and the other had a headache."

FOILED AGAIN

Jack F. rushed out of the school house, across the pavement, jumped high in the air, and fell heavily in the gutter.

George H. rushed to his assistance, lifted him up, and asked: "What's wrong? Did you slip on something?"

"Oh, no," replied Jack. "I just thought I had left my bicycle outside."

The demand for trained stenographers is greater than any heretofore witnessed by any of us. Thousands are needed; the call is imperative. And as the tempo of production increases, the need will increase.

We subscribe to the conclusion that it is the duty of the modern business college to enroll ever larger numbers of young people to get a training which will enable them to do their part toward achieving the only thing that counts now—WIN THE WAR.

The Chambersburg Business College dedicates itself to helping furnish the highest type of personnel to both industry and government. In consequence, we have organized special classes designed to equip young men and women for office work in the shortest possible time consistent with their background and capacity.

Inquiries for summer school began coming in last February. If you are considering the Chambersburg Business College for your training, you should make immediate application. We shall be glad to furnish you with all details of the various courses, including stenography, typewriting, business correspondence, filing, secretarial procedure, bookkeeping and accounting. Write the Chambersburg Business College—Telephone 772.
